The RF1200 door offers high security multi-point locking systems, thermally broken aluminium and a choice of opening configurations.

In addition to our folding doors, we also offer a range of sliding doors, windows, roof lights and entrance doors.

Popular door configurations

As their name suggests, bifold doors fold in pairs. An odd number of panels folding in a particular direction allows for an independent traffic door which provides quick and easy internal and external locking access and handles. An even number of panels folding in a particular direction would only have an internal handle and internal locking.
